2013 USA/Canada Lions Leadership Forum

The 2013 USA/Canada Lions Leadership Forum was held in Overland Park, Kansas on September 19th - 21th, 2013. Over 2000 Lions from around the world were in attendance at this wonderful forum. Missouri Multiple District (MD 26) had 70 Lions from across our state attending this year.

Lions attending the closing ceremony were treated to a terrific performance by Patrick Henry Hughes, a remarkable man born without eyes and without the ability to fully extend his arms and legs. He also had to have 2 steel rods surgically attached to his spine to correct scoliosis.

This young man overcame overwhelming physical issues to be excel as a musician, student, performer and public speaker. Lions were treated to a dynamic performance during the closing dinner on Saturday night, what a great inspiration for all those in attendance.

If you did not attend this year, the 2014 USA/Canada Lions Leadership Forum will be held September 11-13, 2014 in San Juan, Puerto Rico. What a time and location for a vacation!

2014 ALL LIONS MID-WINTER FORUM REGISTRATION

 NEW LOCATION   NEW LOCATION   NEW LOCATION *****

Chateau on the Lake Resort • 415 N State Hwy 265 • Branson, Missouri 65616

Your Registration Packages may be picked up on Friday from 4:00–6:00 PM and Saturday from 7:30–8:30 AM

This Forum will feature two professional instructors guiding the attendees on a self-discovery process of character and values. By engrafting values into your life, you will become a powerful influencer.

They will use a Roundtable methodology to create a fun environment during the day that is a key part of bringing change in your life. The Roundtable is very simple and allows for stimulating discussions to take place, and has been proven to bring personal transformation, as well as, corporate culture change in organizations such as ours. The instructors will use this structured approach while establishing character as a central focus in yourself and our organization. They will share four character values with the participants and will help create an atmosphere for personal growth and development as each person in the roundtable focuses on character development.

These sessions will lead you to a better understanding of others, using common sense and proper thinking with a strong sense of direction. You will be able to use all of these at all levels of your Lions activities as well as in your personal and professional life.

* Full registration includes Friday evening hospitality, all seminars on Saturday, and the lunch on Saturday. Anyone planning on attending any of the seminars will need a full registration. FREEDOM FROM BLINDNESS DAY

Fellow Lions and Friends:

It is with great pleasure that we are able to announce that our LCIF grant request for $25,000 has been APPROVED by the LCIF board of Trustees!

MD-26 CC Gina (and President of Mid-South) Boettcher informed me of their decision today. Since we have been collecting matching funds for several months through our Freedom From Blindness and other programs and contributions, we already have the matching funds in hand and will be able to collect the LCIF monies as soon as our official letter arrives and the appropriate grant agreement forms are completed and returned to LCIF.

We have informed the surgery center so they can begin ordering the new equipment. We expect to have the equipment in hand and paid for, and the grant closed by sometime in early 2014. In addition to current patients, we will be sending many more new patients from our waiting list into the clinic for exams and treatments in mid-November.

For those of you just tuning in, this will allow Mid-South to treat about 50 patients through our facility in the Hamilton Eye Institute.

Thanks so much to the Lions of Missouri, in particular District 26-M2, for their sponsorship of this grant, and to all those who helped us match the LCIF funds!

Once again, by working together, we are able to continue providing "A MIRACLE A DAY" to those in need!

Thanks again!
Together in service,

Brad

Messages from The District Governors

District 26-M2

District Governor Sharyn Scheidt

District 26-M2 held their second cabinet meeting on October 7, 2013 at Mike Duffy's in Kirkwood, Missouri. All lions were invited to the cabinet meetings. We had Jake McEntire as our guest speaker as he had went to Australia with the Lions Youth Exchange program. He also had a slide show with pictures he had taken while over in Australia.

District 26M-2 cabinet and I have visited several clubs in our district, but still have quite a few to go. The St. Louis University Club (Campus Club) has installed over 30 new members and they are working on getting additional new members.

The clubs in District 26-M2 are busy doing what they do best and that is helping their various communities by volunteering their services. As always the District and the clubs are helping the less fortunate in receiving eye exams and glasses.

PDG Roger and I would like to wish everyone a HAPPY THANKSGIVING

AND A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

New Eyeglass Project In St. Charles County

(Used Eyeglasses – A Cooperative Venture From Collection Through Mission Trips)

Article submitted by PDG Lyn Porterfield

There is an exciting new project in St. Charles County which makes use of eyeglasses collected throughout Missouri. Many of you have taken used eyeglasses to MLERF (also known as “Saving Sight”) in Columbia, or to the Eyeglass Wrap in Warrenton, where you separated the glasses from their cases and loose lenses. Ever wonder what happened to those glasses?

Lions Clubs in St. Charles County are cooperating with each other, and with another organization, in an effort to wash, dry, read the prescriptions, bag, sort, and box the glasses in order to prepare them for mission trips to other countries, such as Mexico.

The St. Charles Lions Club obtains boxes of usable glasses from MLERF, and hands them off to the folks at Community Living, which is a non-profit organization that enriches the lives of people with disabilities, located in St. Charles County. There they are washed and dried, sorted into single lens and bifocal categories, and then taken back to the St. Charles Lions Club by participants in Community Living’s Day Program. Members of the St. Charles Lions Club, along with volunteers from other Lions clubs in the area, use a Lensometer to determine the prescription on each pair of glasses. The pair of glasses is placed in a baggie, with a label showing the prescription.

The bagged glasses are then taken to the St. Charles 1st Capitol Lions Club, where they will be sorted into categories for adults and children, and then further sorted by type of prescription. After placing the sorted glasses into boxes, the 1st Capitol Lions Club returns the boxed glasses to MLERF ready for a mission trip. Over 3,000 pairs of glasses have been prepared since the program began. Other Lions clubs are joining the process, including the Harvester Lions Club, which has purchased a Lensometer and is reading prescriptions.

The groups participating in this new program are excited about working together to transform discarded eyeglasses into new opportunities for improved vision in other countries.

If you have any questions about the new program, contact PDG Lion Lyn Porterfield at 636-916-4441 or at lynpat@charter.net.

Continue the Dream

The second quarter of the Lion year is in full swing. The small communities in 26 M-4 are well into the football seasons at the High Schools and basketball will soon occupy everyone's interest. It seems as though there is no time to think with each and every moment seemingly taken and no time to spare. Halloween is a mere memory and Thanksgiving is right around the corner. Christmas is already in all the stores and the landscape outside is turning from brilliant color to its drab winter coat.

As we approach the holiday as Lions we should remember that now is a time when new thoughts and new members can be a blessing to each and every club. New ideas will bring new involvement and new involvement will strengthen you clubs. This is a time when we can make changes and involve people in the life of Lion Service. All too often we ignore the suggestions of the newer members and stick to the old ways of doing things. All too often we recycle leadership roles instead of asking new leaders to bring new life to the clubs and revitalize the club members with new opportunities of service.

By involving the newer members in leadership roles you fill one of the basics needs of all Lions and that is to be needed in the success of the club. You also build on the integrity of the clubs mission in service to the community.

This is also a great time to invite new members to attend the club and show how to get them involved in community issues. 90% of good new ideas come from new members so all you long term Lions out there remember the success of your club doesn't rest on doing everything the same way year after year but it does give you the opportunity to support the new ways of doing things and will Continue the Dream.

HAITI — Early in the morning of Sept. 28th, 2013, a group of 5 met at Kansas City International airport to begin a flight that would culminate in Port-Au-Prince, Haiti. Included from Warrensburg, was Lion Mark Curtis, Optometrist, 1st VDG Gary Curtis, Lion Jennifer Ross, and Bailey Eggen. Joining us in Kansas City was PDG Kenny Goetz. Eventually, we were met in Atlanta by RN Lindsay Overturf. Our mission was to meet the eye care needs of the Haitian people. A secondary mission was to provide gifts to the young people of Haiti. The Lions of District 26-M5 were very generous in helping our team meet these two critical needs. They provided sunglasses, regular glasses, toys, and clothing items. We arrived in Port-Au-Prince in the afternoon of the 28th and were met by Salonique Adolphe and Michael Hobbs who helped us through customs and provided transportation to Salonique's home in Gonaives. We were greeted by Salonique's family. Holgine, Salonique's wife, provided the team with a tasty evening meal. The meals were outstanding throughout the whole mission.

After a night of rest our day started with an early breakfast and a very early church service. Church services in Haiti are very enthusiastic. We should take some lessons. After lunch we began meeting the eye care needs of the Haitian people. Because of the sun most of the people that we served were in need of sun glasses, prescription glasses, and various eye solutions. During the four and one-half days of patient care, we were challenged with about every eye problem that you could imagine. We served the very young as well as the very old. The total number served exceeded 400 in 4 1/2 days. It was very rewarding to the team to see the faces light up when vision problems were corrected. Many of the patients traveled long distances to receive care.

On Friday morning we traveled to the Living Waters Christian School. We interacted with many of the students who were very delighted to see us. They were all in uniform and anxious to learn. That experience was very rewarding. On Friday evening we spent the night at a resort between Gonaives and Port-Au-Prince. We had a chance to relax in the ocean and wind down from the week. Saturday morning we traveled to Port-Au-Prince to begin our long flight home. Overall, it was a great experience. We were able to put in action what Lionism is about. We were able to serve. We had a great team and I would like to thank the Lions of 26-M5 for all their support..

MD26-M6
District Governor Nick Paulin

In July, during District Governor- elect Training, we were asked to identify one of our dreams for the year. This was in keeping with International President Barry Palmer’s theme of “Follow Your Dream”. The dream I expressed was to see enough Lion power show up to do the plantings at the new Irving Elementary School in Joplin. I am happy to report that the dream was fulfilled, as approximately 60 workers showed up on October 19th, to present the MOLATE check, and plant flowers and shrubs at the school. Thanks Missouri Lions for all your support in labor and donations.

The second 26-M6 cabinet meeting was held at the Long Lane Lions Club on November 2nd.

The holiday season is upon us, and as we partake in our celebrations, let us be mindful of those less fortunate, and remember those serving in foreign lands, who cannot share the holiday season with their loved ones.

Lion Noma and I wish you and yours a joyous holiday season.

MD 26-M7
District Governor Jeff Hilke

Don't Be Afraid Of ...

Change. It’s what parents ask for when giving their children money. The promise of it helped win a presidential election. It’s what Lions must do to survive.

The thought of change scares some people. To others, it’s a challenge. Hopefully, you’re in the latter group.

As Lions, we must be willing to “think outside the box.” We must not be afraid to try new things, even if it means changing the way we operate, the time we meet or the activities we participate in. We all know that the world operates differently than it did 40 years ago, or even 5 years ago for that matter. If service organizations, especially the Lions, want to continue to function as we did 40 years ago, how can we expect to be attractive to the world today?

Everyone talks about wanting to attract younger members, but many are afraid to ask young people because we’re afraid that, with family and career commitments, they won’t have time to be active Lions. How do we know this until we ask them? When approaching them as potential members, why not ask them what type of activities they would be interested in, instead of telling them this is what we do?

When younger members see value in what we do and see they are valued as members of a club, it will be easy to attract them. But this is only part of the battle. Once a new member joins, we must be willing to listen to their thoughts and ideas, even if it will change the way we do things. How do we know if something won't work until we evaluate it or give it a try? I realize that change is hard for some people. The thought of change can cause some people to panic. If you're one of these people, please stop to think about how your reactions and comments affect the members you speak to. Please consider how those reactions and comments affect the future of our Lions Clubs. When we lash out at new or younger members who suggest new ideas for leading our organization, how does this encourage others to share their thoughts, or even remain as active members?

I ask everyone to please keep this in mind – does the way I treat my fellow Lions help to promote the overall health and well-being of our Lions Clubs? For the vast majority of Lions, the answer to this is an obvious yes, but the actions of only one or two Lions can counteract the hard work of hundreds of others.

“A Roaring Good Time”

A great time was had by all on Friday, October 25, as Lions from around the state gathered to have a “Roaring Good Time” before the Council of Governor’s meeting on October 26 in Jefferson City. Thank you to those of you that came out for a fun filled evening. A special thank you goes out Lions Amy Bell, Lou Ann Hathcock and Jesse Hathcock for decorating and handling the food, Lion Greg Kliethermes for preparing the delicious barbecue, the Lion Eyes Band (Lions Stan Horn, Dan Muessig, Gary Kempker, Randy Doerhoff, Stan Idel and their manager, Lion Matt Muessig), Lion Chris Hilke for donating the beverages, Beau Voss for providing the hayrides and Reid Millard for donating the use of the facilities. The contributions of all these folks made for a wonderful evening. As Lions, we are often called upon to work hard for our clubs. We need to remember to relax and have fun occasionally also.

A special thank you also goes out the Pastor Joe Skiles and the Solid Rock Family Church for allowing the Missouri Lions to use their facilities for the October Council of Governors meeting. Their generosity is greatly appreciated.

We are Lions. We are Saving Sight.

The Missouri Lions Eye Research Foundation will operate under the name Saving Sight as of December 1, 2013. The moniker change was approved by the board of directors at their meeting in September because it will unite several sight-saving programs, including Heartland Lions Eye Banks and Children's Vision Screening, under a single brand identity. "Saving Sight is going to sharpen the focus of our organization and make it easier to communicate all the great work our staff and volunteers are doing," said Chief Executive Officer Lion Tony Bavuso.

Refining the Foundation's identity is a key objective in our strategic plan, a five-part document created by board members and staff to guide development over the next three years (more on the next page). "We chose Saving Sight because it clearly and concisely describes what all of our programs do to help people," said Lion Tony. "With the strategic plan in place, now is the time to execute a name change that'll help us achieve our mission: we change lives by saving sight."

The name change also offers the Missouri Lions an opportunity to grow its membership. As President of the Board of Directors PCC Al Blumenberg put it, "The marketing possibilities of this new name are tremendous, in that it will be very easy for us to point to our State Sight Project and say, 'We are Lions. We are Saving Sight.' Who wouldn't want to be a part of a group of people committed to such a cause?" The Missouri Lions have been crucial to the development of the Foundation through governance, fundraising, and volunteerism, and they will continue to be so in this next chapter in the Foundation's development.

The rebranding will involve some logistical changes. Office locations and phone numbers will remain the same, but the new website (www.saving-sight.org), social media (Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn and Vimeo) and email addresses (e.g., TBavuso@saving-sight.org) will go live on December 1, 2013. For everyone's convenience, though, the current websites (www.mlerf.org and www.hleb.org) and email addresses will redirect automatically to the new site and addresses starting December 1.

To get more involved with Saving Sight or to ask questions about the strategic plan, please contact pr@mlerf.org or 800-283-1982.

Organizational Strategic Plan Guides Work Toward Mission

Last February, leadership staff and board members of the Missouri Lions Eye Research Foundation met in St. Louis to develop the organization's first-ever strategic plan. It was the first time in 53 years that the organization has stepped back collectively to think about its current operating environment, its goals, and the strengths and obstacles that will affect the attainment of those goals. The result of these discussions was a strategic plan, which is like a roadmap that the Foundation will use to guide its growth and refinement over the next three years. The strategic plan includes a statement of the organization's mission, vision, values, and 5 primary objectives:

Mission

We change lives by saving sight.

Vision

To be the global partnership model for how eye banking and charitable vision services can most effectively serve people and communities.

Values

- Stewardship of gifts – responsibly handling financial and tissue donations; recognizing and respecting selfless gifts of others by honoring their intended use
- Integrity – being trustworthy; acting in an ethical way; being authentically mission-driven
- Collaboration – working with others to achieve our goals, including Lions clubs; seeking long-term partnerships to support our mission
- Teamwork – working together for a common goal; committing to each other; understanding and respecting each other and other departments; creating synergy
- Leadership – influencing the industry; being knowledgeable and confident; being calculated risk takers; being recognized as having opinion leaders; being a think tank for the industry
- Accountability – exhibiting capable stewardship through transparency; taking responsibility for our decisions and action

Objectives

1. Manage the risk created by health care reform.
2. Grow high-impact charitable programs.
3. Generate additional revenue.
4. Raise awareness of and appreciation for the Foundation's programs among key stakeholders.
5. Build a high-performance, high-satisfaction organization.

These principles of the organization will govern our work for the next three years, and part of that growth includes working with Lions leaders at the state level to get Lions more involved with our sight-saving programs. In fact, as one of our key stakeholders, Lions are integral to achievement of the fourth objective, which will involve finding new ways for Lions to volunteer with our programs and also developing a recognition program to successfully spotlight those Lions and Lions clubs that make a difference in their communities by way of our programs. As these opportunities develop, the Foundation will notify Lions through email, newsletters, and district leadership.

The Foundation is in an exciting time of growth, and the Missouri Lions will be crucial in driving that growth over the next three years. Accordingly, each Lions Club President has received a copy of the strategic plan to share with club members, and each district's board member and leadership has received information to share with Lions in their district.

To learn more about how to get involved, please contact us at pr@mlefr.org or 800-283-1982 or get in touch with your district's board member and leadership team.

Vision Screening Helps Preserve Sight for Kindergartener

Olivia was in kindergarten last April when the Children's Vision Screening program and volunteers from the Concordia Lions Club visited her school. She wasn't experiencing difficulty in the classroom or demonstrating vision problems at home, but the vision screening technician detected that Olivia was likely suffering from amblyopia and thus referred her parents to seek a full vision exam from an eye doctor. Amblyopia, commonly known as "lazy eye," can occur when there is a vast difference in acuity between the child's two eyes. Over time, the disparity usually results in the weaker eye losing sight altogether unless it is treated promptly, which is why early detection is so important. "We never had any indication that she couldn't see," said Scott, her father. "No teachers or grandparents or other doctors had noticed a problem. So without this vision screening, Olivia would have been 20/20 in one eye and 20/200 in her left eye."

Olivia's parents took her to an eye doctor who confirmed the screening results, diagnosing Olivia with refractive amblyopia and prescribing glasses that give Olivia's left eye an acuity of 20/60 to help stimulate the eye's growth. At her most recent follow-up visit, they discovered an improvement in her vision, and the doctor also prescribed one hour of patching a night for the next three months until the next appointment. Patching is a common treatment that involves covering the dominant eye (the right eye in Olivia's case) to require the child to use the weaker eye and strengthen it. Scott has reported that the treatment and glasses are going well so far.

When 80 percent of learning occurs through the eyes, healthy vision is crucial to Olivia's success in the classroom. Furthermore, the American Association for Pediatric Ophthalmology and Strabismus reports that, "better treatment success is achieved when treatment starts early." This is why the Children's Vision Screening program focuses on screening children ages 6 months to 6 years old. By identifying vision problems early, the program can give parents the information they need to seek treatment for their children and prepare them for school. Olivia's treatment and improving vision is a testament to the power of early treatment and what can be accomplished when vision screening programs, schools, parents, and eye doctors work together. "We learned that it can greatly affect academics," Scott said. "So we're quite grateful that we were able to avoid discovering Olivia's condition in that fashion."

The American Optometric Association recommends that children receive comprehensive eye exams at 6 months and 3 years old, before starting school, and every two years thereafter.

Improving the Sight & Quality of Life for a Mother of Three

Cathy from Bethalto, Illinois didn't know she was suffering from a serious eye disease until she sought a consultation for Lasik surgery. The surgeon explained that the reason her contacts no longer fit and why she wasn't a candidate for Lasik was because the shape of her cornea was slowly changing due to keratoconus. According to the National Keratoconus Foundation, the disease "is a non-inflammatory eye condition in which the normally round dome-shaped cornea progressively thins, causing a cone-like bulge to develop." Keratoconus significantly impairs vision for about 1 in every 2,000 people, but its cause remains unknown. Cathy began using rigid, gas-permeable contact lenses that helped give her eyes a smooth, rounded shape, resulting in better vision. But as the keratoconus progressed, her doctor eventually recommended corneal transplantation.

"I was almost blind in my right eye," Cathy said. "I could see but not focus, so I couldn't make out faces until they were within a foot or two of me." She received a transplant on her right eye in St. Louis and experienced no complications with the surgery. "I still wear gas-permeated contacts because my eye's still slightly misshapen, but my vision is clear and close to 20/20 in the right eye." Cathy is currently waiting to pursue treatment on her left eye.

For now, though, Cathy is able to see very well with her contacts and new cornea. "I consider myself lucky because my cornea transplant was a very easy process," Cathy said. "It was nerve-racking, but the recovery time was easy and I had no pain." As a working mother of three daughters, she became acutely aware of just how important her sight was to her family life. "You take sight for granted," she added. "My kids would bring me papers for school, but I couldn't help them without contacts in. It made me very confused. You're aware of things around you, but everything's such a blur."

"I feel very blessed," said Cathy. "It's ironic because I'm registered as an organ donor, but you don't think about eyes or corneas. A small part of someone's body has made a big impact on me." Thanks to her donor and donor family, Cathy is more able to engage with her life and her children. "My oldest daughter is a senior this year," she said, "so I'm now getting to experience her life alongside her while she experiences it."

To join the millions of Americans like Cathy who have registered for the eye, organ, and tissue donor registry, visit the Donate Life America website (www.donatelife.net) or your local Department of Motor Vehicles office.
